Stripe test mode

Checkout that reads as finished work.

Northline is a professional payment checkout for invoices, retainers, and client work. Amounts are collected through Stripe's Payment Element. This version does not take live charges.

Open checkoutHow it works

Built to present well

Simple checkout

A focused amount, currency, and email form. No extra product catalog or account wall.

Clear payment status

Receipts show paid, processing, or unavailable from Stripe — not from the browser redirect.

Built for modern businesses

The layout, copy, and states are meant for client presentation, not a tutorial form.

How it works

1

Enter payment details

Choose a currency, amount, and optional email for the receipt.

2

Complete checkout

Stripe's Payment Element collects the payment method. Northline never sees the card number.

3

Receive confirmation

Status is confirmed with Stripe before a receipt is shown as paid.

How payments are handled

Test mode only

This build uses Stripe test mode. Live keys are rejected. No production merchant processing is enabled.

Stripe Payment Element

Card details are entered in Stripe's Payment Element. Northline does not collect or store card numbers, expiry dates, or CVV.

Northline does not claim PCI certification or production security certification. Receipt pages retrieve the PaymentIntent from Stripe instead of trusting a URL parameter.

Ready to try checkout

Open the test-mode checkout. Real Stripe test charges require valid test credentials.
